

Hey there! I am the road. I take you places.
Close or far, slow or fast, you make the choices.

How would you like to go around today?

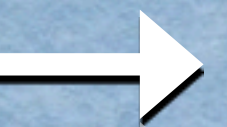

I'LL WALK

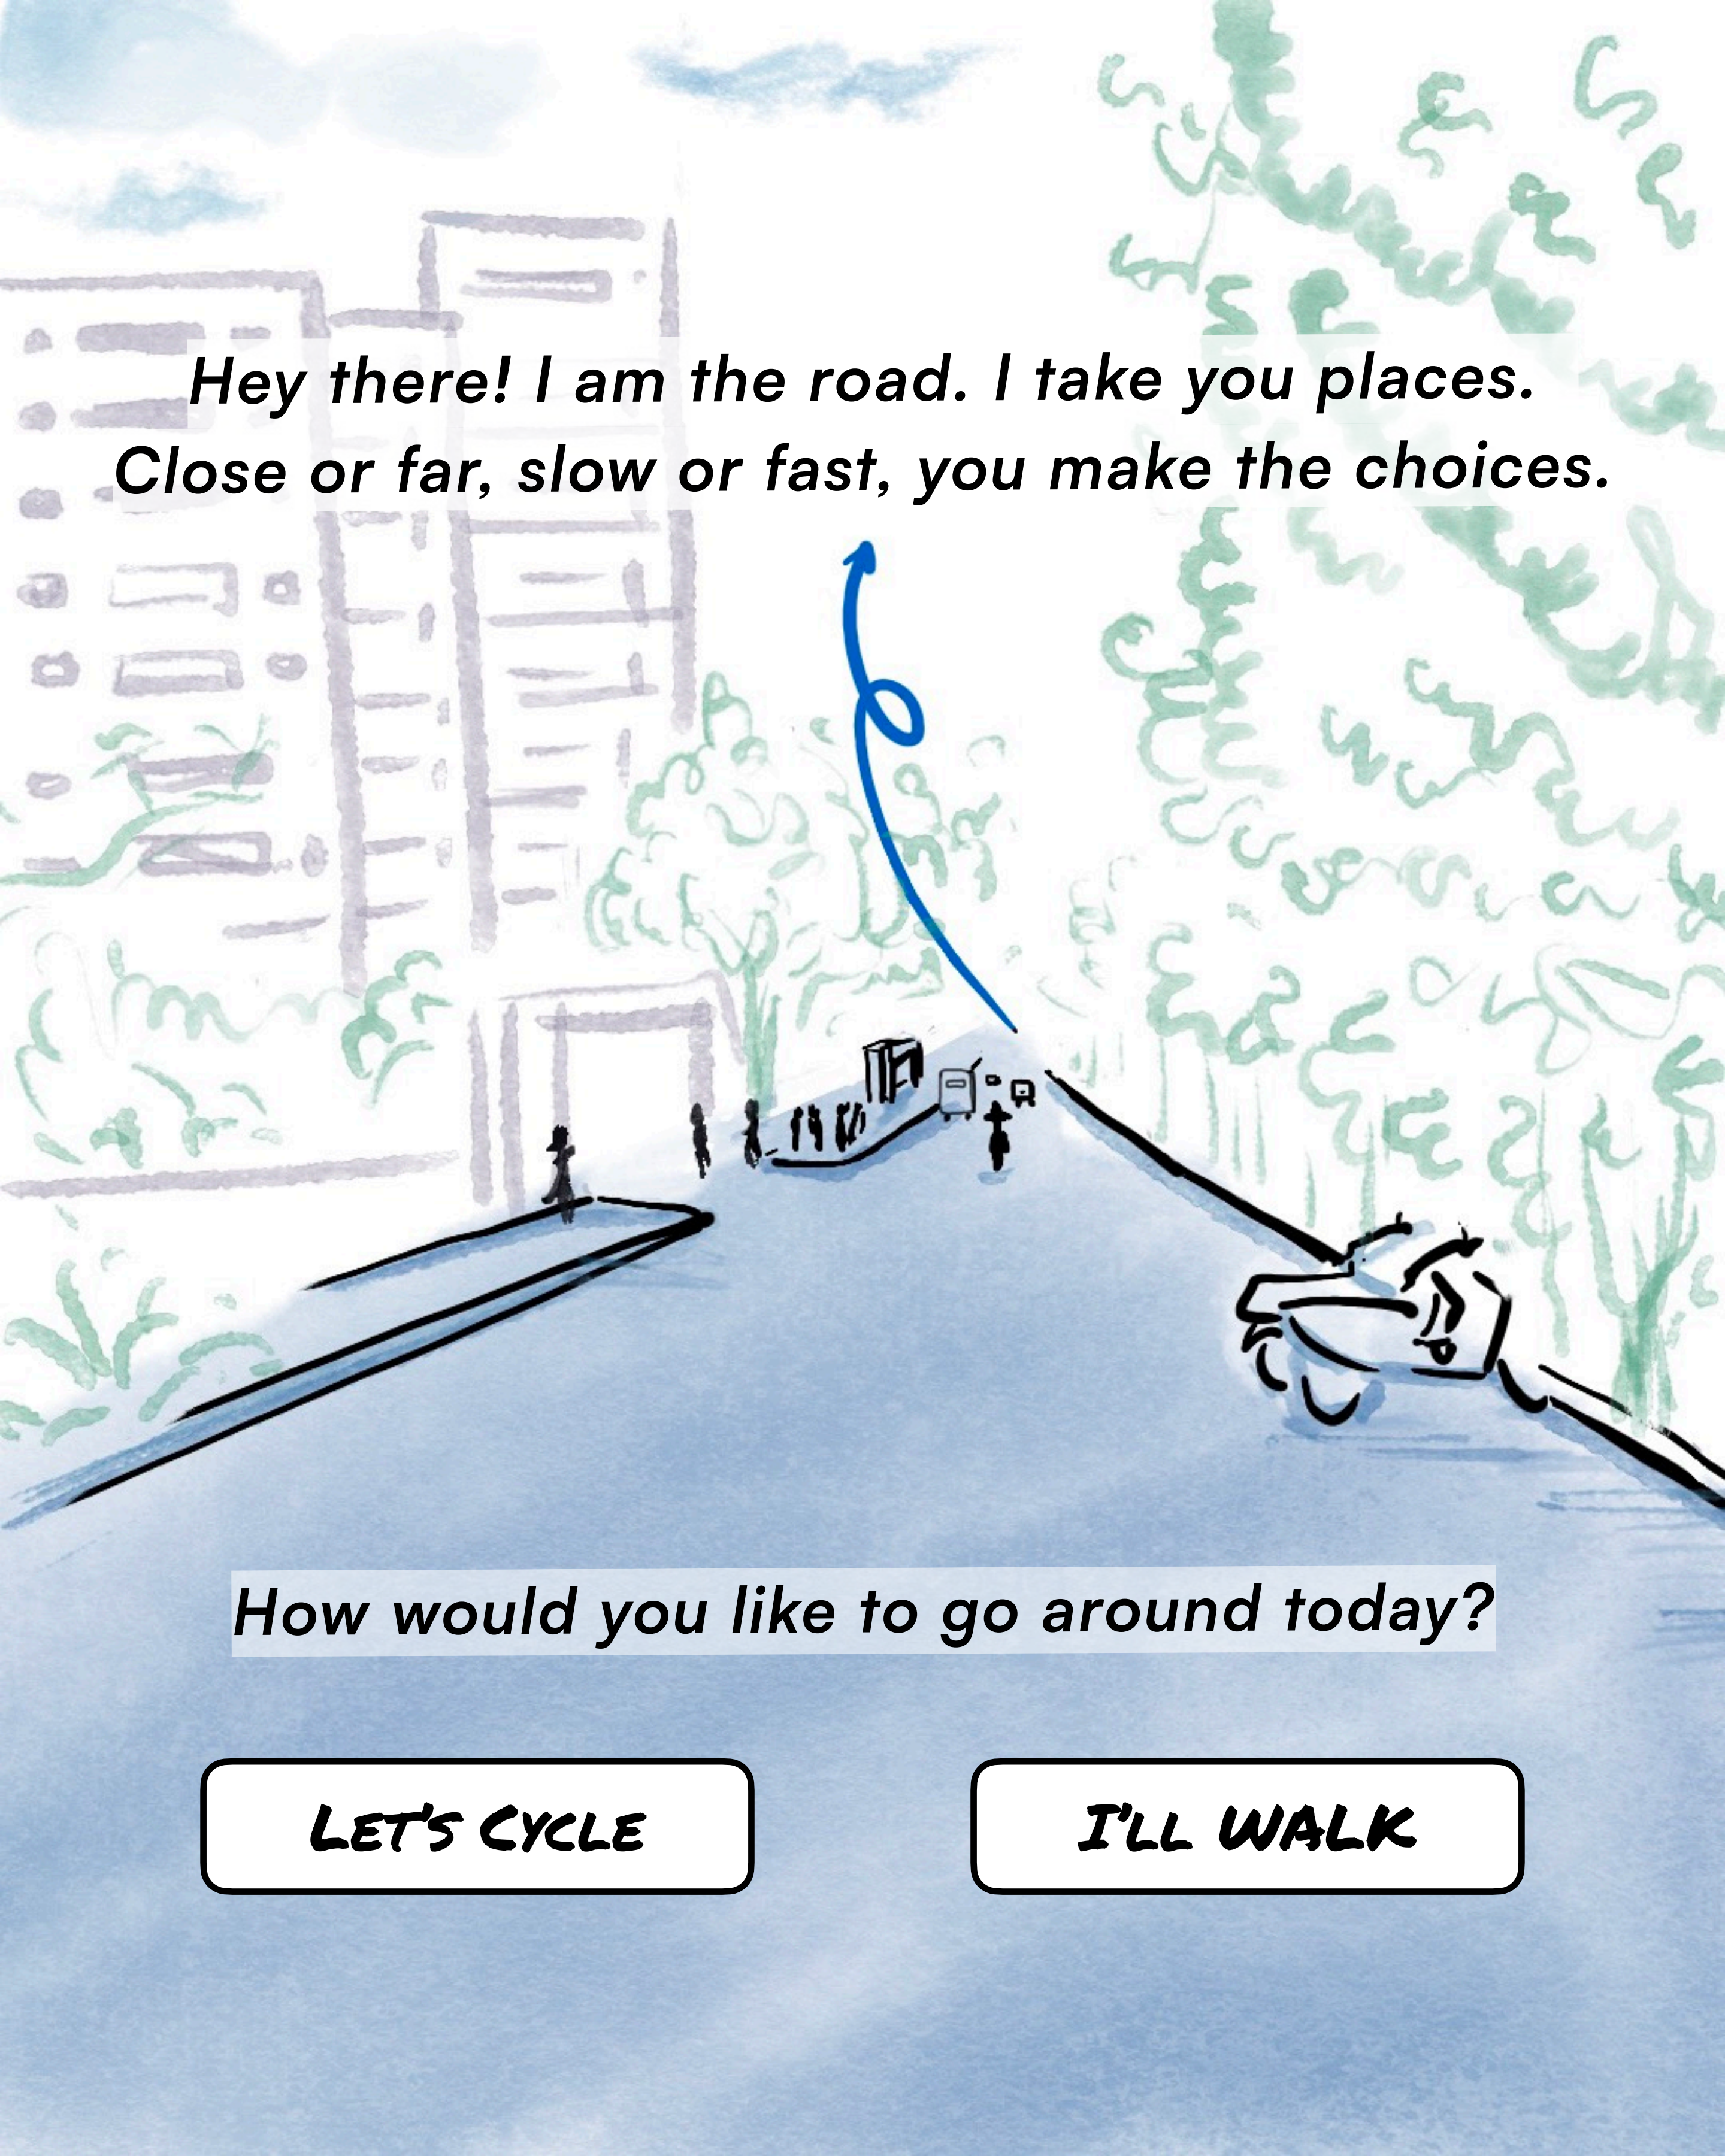

LET'S CYCLE

Great choice! The curious minds like to walk and look around.

Let's walk on the sidewalk though.
Moving vehicles won't bother you here. You can walk safe and sound.

*Hey there! I am the road. I take you places.
Close or far, slow or fast, you make the choices.*

How would you like to go around today?

LET'S CYCLE

I'LL WALK

An illustration of a city street scene from a first-person perspective of a cyclist. In the foreground, the cyclist's hands are visible on the handlebars. The road is blue and leads into the distance. On the left side of the road, there is a brown sidewalk where a person in a red dress is walking. A blue arrow points from the text 'Also put on a helmet, and protect your head.' to a cyclist wearing a green helmet. Another blue arrow points from the text 'Keep to the left always and ride without fear.' to the left side of the road. In the background, there are green trees, a yellow bus, a red car, and a person on a motorcycle. The sky is light blue with some clouds.

Great choice! Get ready in your brightest gear, and stay visible and clear.

Also put on a helmet, and protect your head.

Keep to the left always and ride without fear.
